

'Rags and Tatters' Design Finished in Three Weeks

By EDITH B. CRUMB

YESTERDAY our newest member, Mrs. G. N. Stott, 1726 Bagley avenue, brought to the Quilt Club Corner meeting two quilt tops, one the Oak Leaf and the other Rags and Tatters, both from News patterns.

This is the first Rags and Tatters top which has been brought to us and Mrs. Stott says that it took her about three weeks to make it.

The quilt is in red, white and blue, the gray patches representing the blue and the darker ones the bright red. This quilt is an ideal one for a boy's room, for boys like bright colors and conventional designs.

EACH block in the Oak Leaf is in an individual color scheme, the background being white and the joining strips light blue.

Now Mrs. Stott has the task of quilting these tops so that they will be finished for The Detroit News Quilt Show in the fall.

Mrs. Marian Ridler said to tell other Dresden Plate also four of the Chinese Star design which she hopes to finish soon. She has a garden to take care of and in one corner of the yard she is planning to have a Friendship garden, so she certainly keeps busy.

Finally Sees a City at 19 —and Thinks It's a Bore

Women's hats looked pretty crazy to Mary Dyer, whose whole 19 years had been spent in the Fisher River country of Manitoba, and she was forced because of a heart ailment to go to a hospital in Winnipeg, 120 miles away for her first visit to a city. Also she disliked movies because they gave her a headache. Selecting food in a restaurant proved much more difficult than having a meal set down before her. In fact, the only girl's experience that amused her, after she was able to leave the hospital, was the upsetting of a tray of dishes in a restaurant.

60 Below Zero in the Arctic Is Warmer Than England

So far as known, June Victoria Pasley was born nearer the North Pole than any other white child. The place is Cambridge Bay, 200 miles inside the Arctic Circle, and there was not a doctor within 1,000 miles when June was born six years ago. Her father, Capt. Ernest Pasley, is a trading representative and captain of a schooner. Though 60 degrees below zero is not uncommon at Cambridge Bay, Mrs. Pasley says she "almost froze to death" in England where she visited last winter. The difference she ascribed to dampness of the British climate.

Has Triplets at 45

Mrs. Mary Gilbert, 45, wife of a coal-loader at Wood Green, Eng., has given birth to triplets. She has seven other children.

everybody that her first picnic will be held next Thursday, June 2, at the same place on Belle Isle. This means to meet at the shelter near the Schiller monument and bring your lunch. These picnics usually start about 1 a. m. and Mrs. Ridler says she has ordered first grade of weather with plenty of sunshine.

MAY MANCUSE, 1922 Division street, has organized a little neighborhood quilt club which has just eight members ranging in age from six to 20. May doesn't know what to call the club, so would be very grateful for suggestions. Just drop her a card. She will be delighted to hear from you.

Next week she will bring the 80 wash cloths which she has trimmed with hand crocheted edging and wants you to see them before she turns them over to Nancy Brown for the Carillon bazaar. She says that 12 of them are autographed. Now that May has finished these she has to get busy on a quilt for our show. She has the top almost out together.

A LETTER has just been received from Mrs. C. L. Allison, 416 May st., Canfield, Mich. It is a long time since she has written to us and it certainly seemed like old times to hear from her. She says that the only member she has heard from is Mrs. A. Bowen, of Lake George. Mrs. Allison went over and spent the week-end with Mrs. Bowen this spring. They exchanged quilt patches and made plans for coming to the next quilt show together.

Mrs. Allison has quilted three quilts and made several tops and has also finished her Friendship Album quilt and says it is very pretty. She has finished 10 blocks of an-

Quilt Tops Brought to Meeting

Here is MRS. G. N. STOTT, showing the two quilt tops which she brought to the Corner meeting Friday. At the left is Rags and Tatters, a top which she finished in three weeks, using The Detroit News pattern and at the right The News Oak Leaf pattern was used, each block of which is in a different color and design of material.
