HOROSCOPE QUILT—LEAFLET NO. 14

diplomatic critical
observant
fastidious

(VIRGO)

By EDITH B. CRUMB

HERE they are—the characteristics for Virgo people; and don't forget to dot the i's and cross the t's! It seems rather foolish to mention these points since the Virgo person is naturally fastidious and observant of detail. But perhaps mentioning those very qualities bring the need for caution.

The sapphire is the favorite or birthstone of Virgo people and their favorite is supposed to be the morning glory while their favorite color is yellow.

The Virgo people are supposed to be orderly, methodical, keen of mind.

If born under this sign, you are supposed to be a diplomat in that you can get your own way without rousing too much opposition, but in another sense you are exceedingly undiplomatic. You are so critical of others that you feel you just must tell them about their faults all for their own good, you understand, and yet you resent being told about your own faults.

But you have so many other good qualities that they overbalance the bad ones. I would suggest, however, that you borrow a leaf from Cancer's book and make it easier for yourself to change your faults into virtues. It can be done without much hardship for your predisposition to find flaws may be changed over into diplomacy that works wonders.
