ONE MAY select a figured wallpaper for the dining room and work around it so that a very delightful scheme may be the result; and with the background as the first thought in the room, the predominating color in the design of the paper may be used as the keynote to the scheme.

In the accompanying illustration is shown a room which has a very charming scheme and one that might be used in either an apartment or a house. With this as a example, the room might be created as follows:

The background of the wall paper may be a light tint of cream and the design in green, yellow, orange and a touch of lavender, the green predominating.

The woodwork, cornice and ceiling may be finished in green to match the lightest tint in the paper, the floorcovering being of plain green carpeting.

The glass curtains may be of cream net, finished with hems and made to hang straight to the sill, and for the over-draperies there may be lavender moire, finished with green tassel fringe. These draperies should be lined with cream saten, finished floor length and put up with a flat shaped valance of the same material and trimming.

The chairs may be covered with gold and lavender cut velvet; and the scarf for the buffet of cream lace of a fine quality linen.

This same scheme would be attractive with the woodwork, cornice and ceiling finished in a cream tint instead of green.

Some prefer neutral floorcoverings, and with this in view, a warm tint of beige is suggested for this room with the green woodwork and with this the draperies may be green, the lavender being brought out in the covering of the chairs. Moire would be attractive for this purpose.

If the paper had a design in tint and shade of green, the floor covering might be mulberry, the draperies made to match and the chair seats covered with green velvet.

The quilt club members will be interested to know that 22 cities and three states were represented in today's list of members, the most distant quilter writing from East Palaka, Florida.

Interesting letters are coming in thick and fast and here are a few to start the ball rolling:—

I think this idea of a Quilt Club is the grandest ever. I have made your Dresden Plate pattern and also two quilts of the Prairie Queen pattern for my boys' twin beds. These quilts are lovely in blue and white.

MRS. H. F. K.

Thank you for writing so soon, Mrs. K. Be sure to drop us a line and let us know how the Horoscope quilt is getting along.

I can hardly wait until I receive the quilt pattern so I can start the first block of my Horoscope quilt. I don't think I have missed any of the quilt patterns that have come out. I have made several of the Detroit News quilts and like them very much. One of them was the and only regret is that I cannot give it the time I would like to.
