

Five Orders Are Waiting to Be Put on the Frames

By EDITH B. CRUMB.

EVERY Tuesday is quilting day for the members of the Women's Association of the North Woodward Presbyterian Church, Woodward and Philadelphia avenues, Detroit, and this week they are working on an order that is quite unusual—twin piecework quilts. Two frames are set up, having quilts alike, the pattern being a Snowball.

I often find two quilts being worked on at the same time, but I have never seen twin quilts at a sewing circle before.

The members of this organization spend several days on one quilt, not working against time and every stitch is taken "just so" in order that there is a uniform appearance to the finished quilt.

There are five quilts waiting for the frames and one that has just been finished was sent from New York and will soon be on its return trip.

No piecing is done by the members of this organization for orders, merely the quilting and binding coming under their care.

The proceeds derived from this work is contributed towards the women's work of the church.

These quilters take a vacation during June, July and August; but from the way in which I notice they enjoyed this day of quilting I am sure they look forward to a return to the needles and frames early every September.

Phone want ads to Cherry 3505.

Twin Quilts Being Finished by This Circle

STANDING, left to right: Mrs. Donald Urquhart, Mrs. Robert McKinnell, Miss Lillian Andrew, Miss Mabel Lee and Mrs. L. E. Ditzler. Sitting, left to right: Mrs. F. W. Jotham, Mrs. Chase C. Reed, Mrs. L. E. Jells, Mrs. J. A. McKay, Mrs. A. L. Conrad and Mrs. J. W. Scott.

Last Blocks Ready for Children's Quilts

THIS is Johnnie's calico pony racing for first place on the Brother quilt, and not even his series No. 13 is going to keep him out of it. Ivy, the little lass on the sidelines, finds herself adorning leaflet No. 14 of the Brother-Sister series.

These leaflets are the last of the lot. On No. 14 are directions for piecing the entire body of the quilt.

When sending for these leaflets to Edith Crumb, Beauty in the Home Editor, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Or call in person at The Detroit News Public Service Bureau in the Majestic Building or the General Motors Building.

Salted nuts quickly lose their freshness. When they are served they should be heated for a few minutes in a moderate oven.

CANADA TAKES
WHEAT GAMBLE

DIRECT