

Another Fascinating Pattern

"Pot of Tulips" Will Look Well in Detroit News Quilt Show

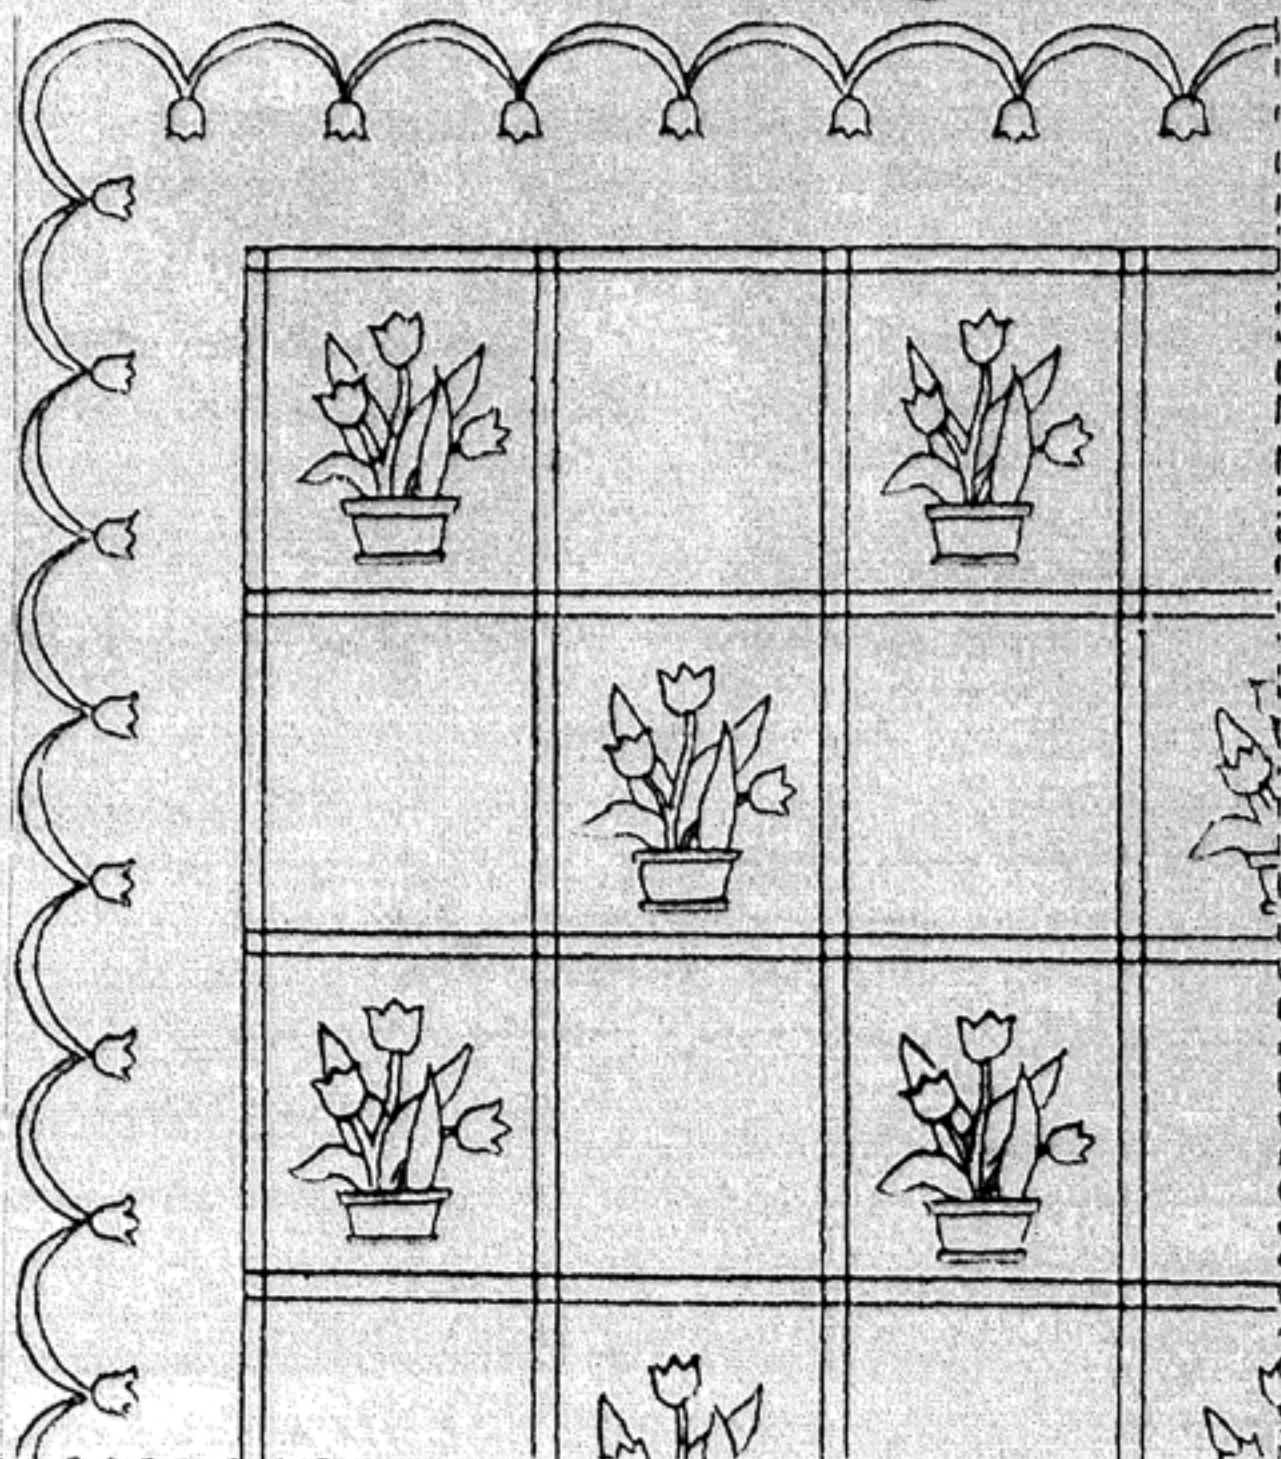

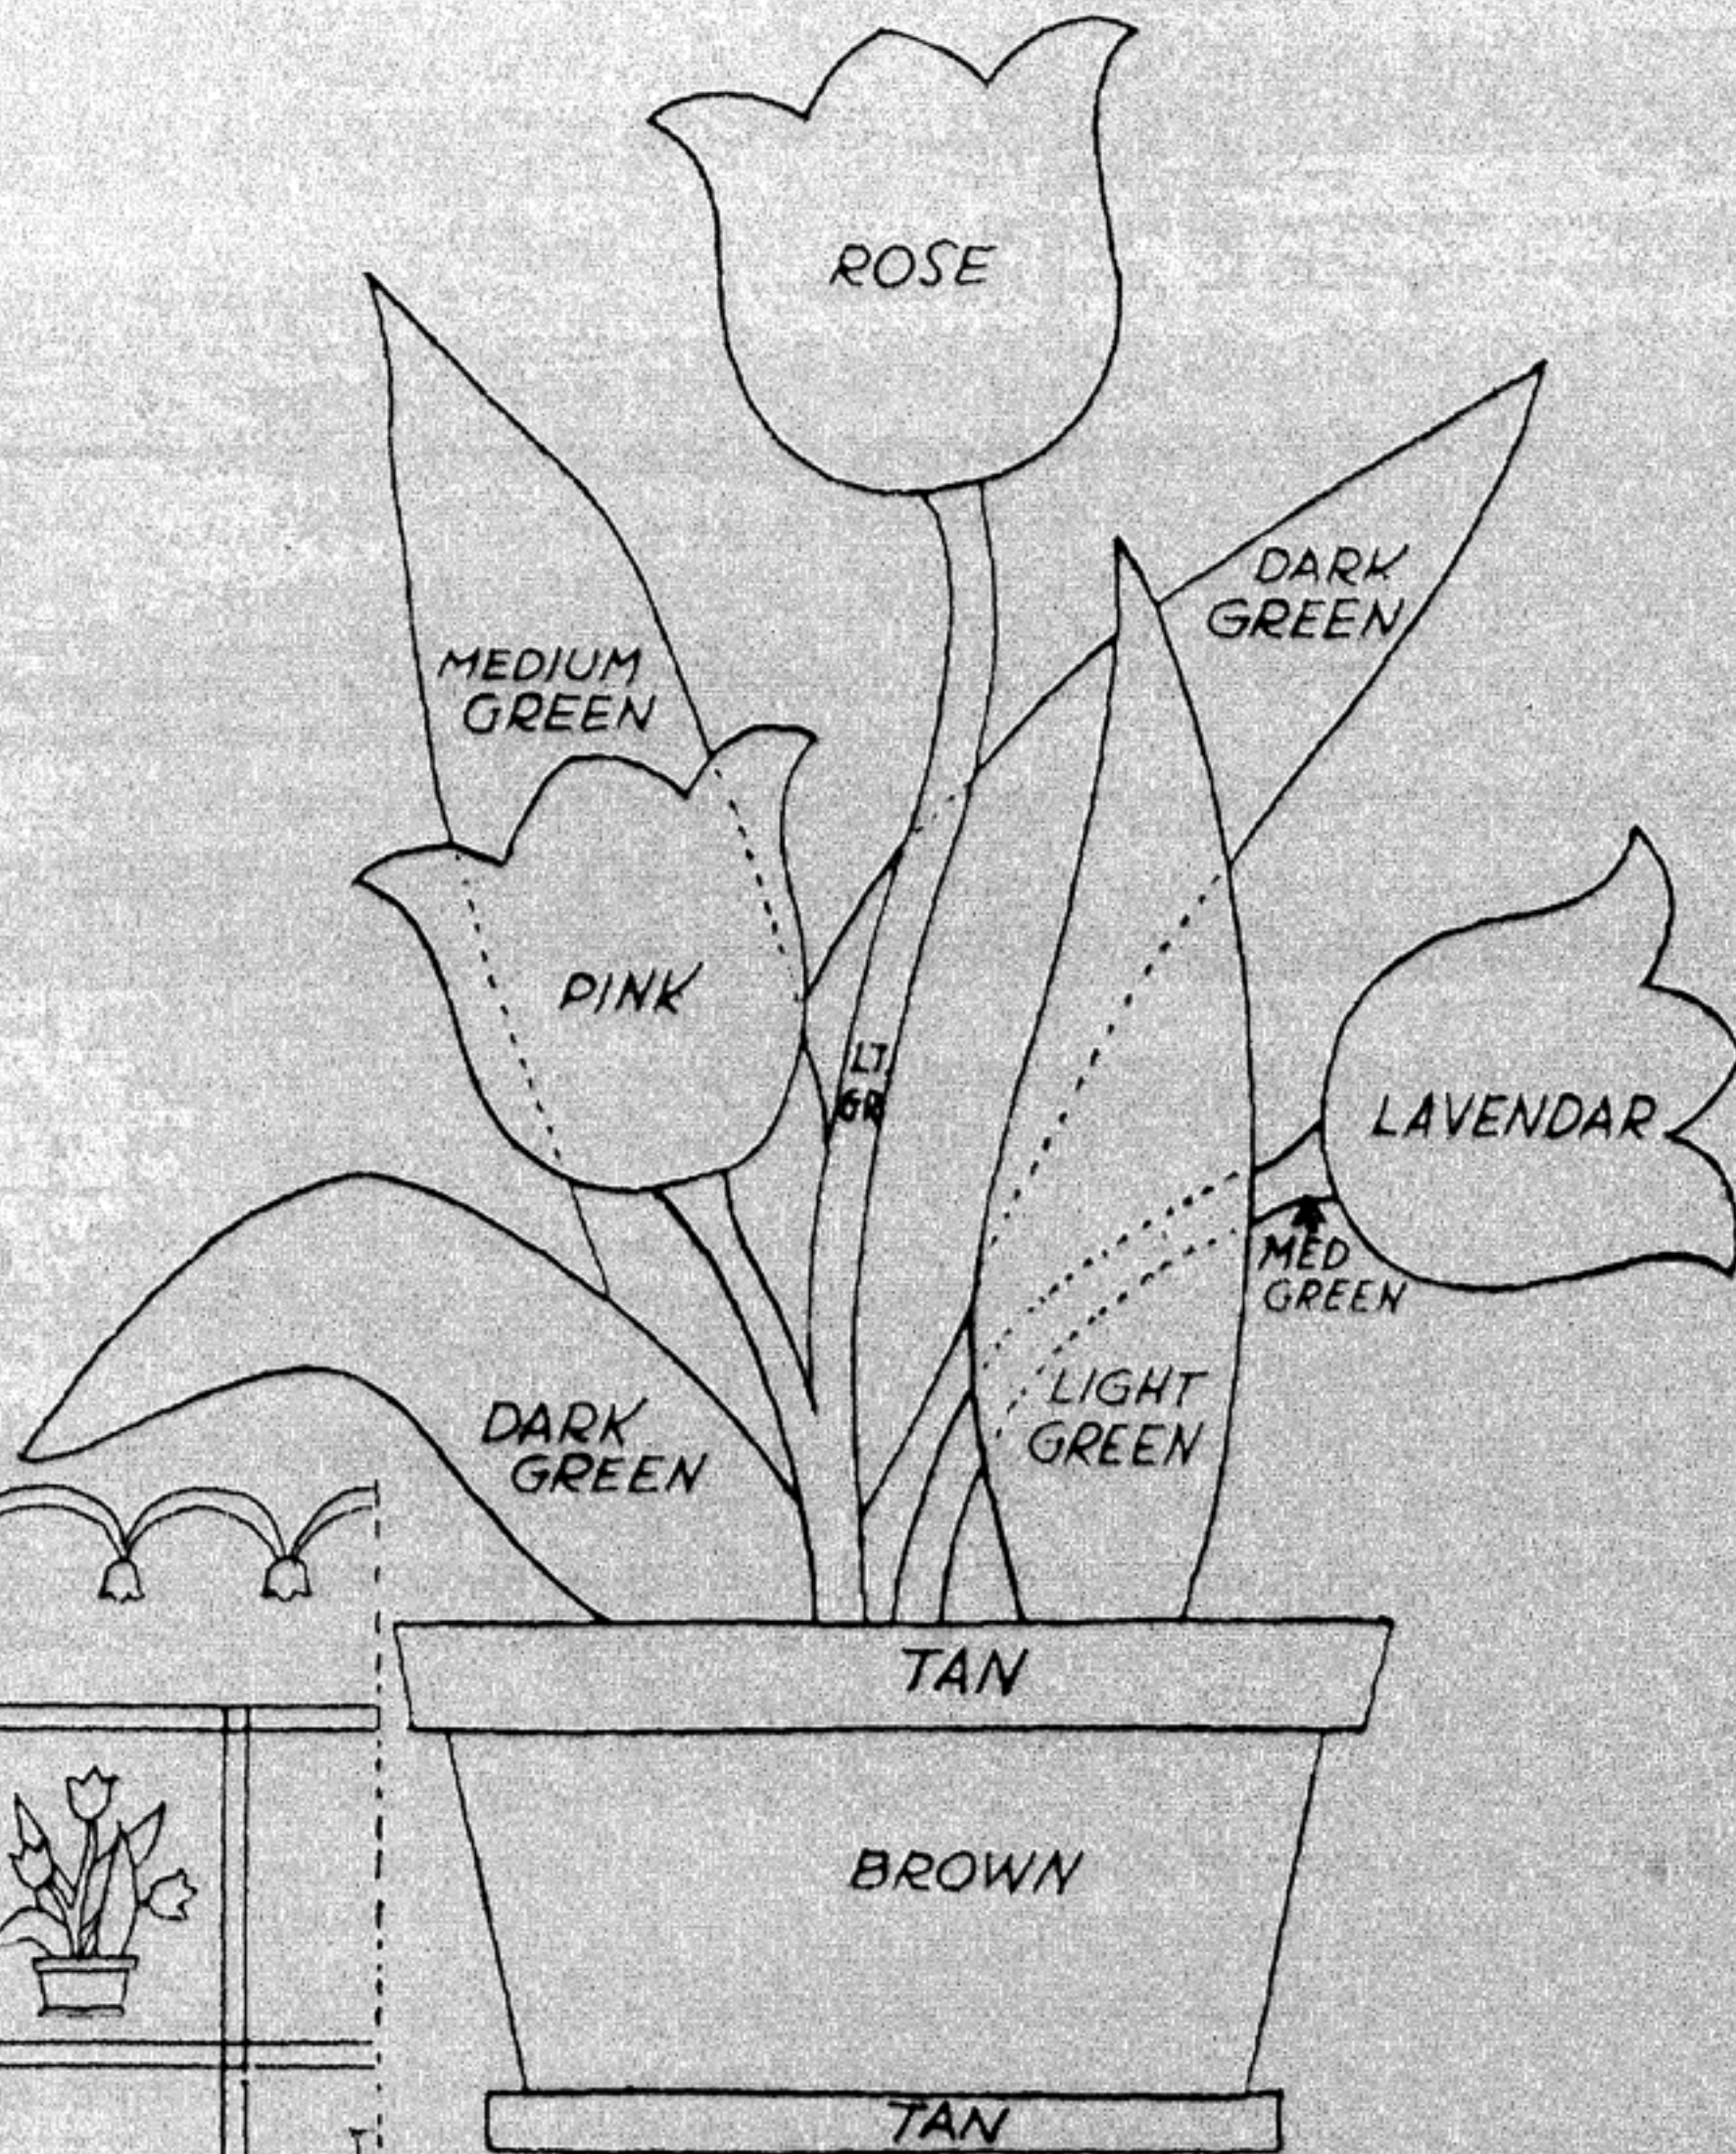

HERE'S another charming, spring-like pattern to help you get ready for The Detroit News Quilt Show. Remember the dates—April 16, 17 and 18.

It's called THE POT OF TULIPS and can be made in a veritable rainbow of colors if you wish. Or, you may choose a more limited color scheme and stick to that.

If you send for this pattern now, Leaflet ID 56, you'll have plenty of time to make it for the show.

Even if you can't finish the entire quilt, you can at least enter the top.

The Pot of Tulips promises to be one of the most popular new patterns in the coming show. The blocks are fairly simple, nothing at all complicated about putting them together, and yet the design as a whole will be exceedingly handsome.

ONE QUARTER OF QUILT SHOWN

Here is a single block of the new quilt pattern. The Pot of Tulips, reduced in size, of course with one corner shown, at left, of the finished quilt.

THIS new quilt block is just one of several flower patterns which have been planned for the 1937 Quilt show.

Last Sunday three other new patterns were announced. All were geometric designs, they were called Sweet and Low (on Leaflet ID-54), Log Cabin, one of the well known old-timers (on Leaflet ID-55), and Spring Garden (on Leaflet ID-53), a conventional design which suggests a conventionalized flower.
