Back Reorganization

Sisters Are Quilt Show Regulars

MRS. GALTON

MRS. CALDWELL

MRS. FISHER

R

It's small wonder that Mrs. Emons Galton and Mrs. Arthur Fisher, sisters, attend The Detroit News Quilt Show every year. It was through the Quilt Club that the two were reunited a few years ago after a separation of 33 years, caused by adoption. Here they are admiring one of the prize quilts with "Gran", Mrs. Nellie Caldwell, known and beloved by all Quilt Club members.

Quilt Show Sets Record of 18,000 Visitors in Hall

By GARNET WARFEL

All kinds of records have been made at all kinds of shows held at Detroit's big Convention Hall throughout the years, but officials believe a new kind of record was established at The Detroit News Quilt Show there Saturday, when 18,000 women and men through the NEW NURSERY STYLE 18,000 women and men thronged the

The next year Mrs. Gasperik came to the quilt show. She came back in 1937 with four quilts to exhibit. She received four honorable mentions. This year, she took a big prize. Mrs. Gasperik is Hungarian, but her lived in America 32 years.

but has lived in America 32 years.

Many count upon seeing Mrs.

Emons Galton and Mrs. Arthur Fisher at the quilt show every year. And they are not disappointed. Mrs. Galton and Mrs. Fisher are the

NEW NURSERY STYLE

Quilt Show there Saturday, when 18,000 women and men thronged the place.

The number, high as it is, did not include the estimated extra three or four thousand that entered three or four thousand that entered the quilt exhibit hall from the Home Show, being held in another unit of the hall. Both shows will close at 10 o'clock tonight.

Two thousand quilts displayed from long racks, arranged to form aisles at the hall, are a startling sight, and strike the visitor as something akin to a super scene for a Hollywood production.

Today's crowd was expected to include persons from all over Michigan and nearby states as well, since Sunday always has been designated in quilts, and the doors open at 11 a. m. The show is being directed by Miss Edith B. Crumb, The News' interior decorator.

WINNER HONORED

NEW NURSERY STYLE

An outstanding feature of the quilts exhibited this year, is the modern trend in bed covering for the nursery or children's rooms. The old, familiar figures of nursery quilts have given way to ones with which today's children are all familiar.

A Shirley Temple quilt, depicts in its various blocks the little movie star sailing, riding, eating carrots and such. Then there is the fast cinating Snow White quilt that one of the show's biggest attractions. Snow White is the figure in the center and about her are shown the seven dwarfs, along with the little fawn, the birds and bumnies that played such an important role in her picture.

One quilt shower is the quilts exhibited this year, is the modern trend in bed covering for the nursery or children's rooms. The old, familiar figures of nursery quilts have given way to ones with which today's children are all familiar.

A Shirley Temple quilt, depicts in its various blocks the little movie star sailing, riding, eating carrots and such. Then there is the fast cinating Snow White is the figure in the center and about her are shown in the center and about her are shown the seven dwarfs, along with the seven dwarfs, along with the seven dwarfs, along with the de the visitor as someand which today's children are all familiar.

A Shirley Temple quilt, depicts in its various blocks the little moving and such there is the factionating san and nearby states as well, since Sunday always has been designated as "Out of Town Day." However, at the show is for everybody interested in quilts, and the doors open at 11 a. m. The show is being directed by Miss Edith B. Crumb, The News' interior decorator.

WINNER HONORED

All day crowds surrounded Mrs. Mary Gasperik, of Chicago, winner of one of the big prizes for the best appliqued quilt. Mrs. Gasperik was radiant as she and her friend, Mrs. W. J. Reynolds, who accompanied her here from Chicago, told of getting "connected" with the local show.

A base ball fan, Mrs. Gasperik went to the opening Chicago gam of the 1935 World Serie. The her seat, she found a pand read about Mrs. The

The pattern was shown in Experi-ence. It is "Column House," and ence. It is "Column House," and shows a porch and a doorway. Over the door is the embroidered name of the columnite, and the great popularity of Nancy's column is shown in the drawing power of this unfinished quilt.

Mrs. Elmer Empson of Colon, Mich.; Mrs. Byron Banta of Breedsville; Mrs. Gladys Kennedy of Macomb, Ill., and Mrs. Frances Purcell of Hemlock, Ind., are a few who visit the show each year.