Smart Silk Pillows And New Book-Ends

A NEW kind of quilting that will interest you is done without the wool sheeting, the raised effect being brought about by the use of yarn drawn through on the wrong side—but that cannot be explained here, for there is a leaflet which will tell you all about it.

With the knowledge of this fascinating, and very simple quilting, you may make smart boudoir pillows, fingerie and handkerchief cases.

Taffeta is the material used for these lovely things and only a few hours of careful sewing are required to make any of the articles mentioned. The best part of it is that they are not a bit expensive.

Something else that will appeal to the homemaker is a pair of folding book ends, covered with velvet, damask, taffeta or brocade. These are easily made and the covering is a very simple matter.

All of the articles are illustrated, just how much material is required for each has been figured out, and every step in the making carefully described.

No one should be without this leaflet if she is interested in keeping her house attractive in every detail.

To receive this leaflet all that is necessary is to send your request for it to the Beauty in the Home Department, enclosing with it a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
