QUILTERS' JOURNAL PUBLISHED QUARTERLY-- Sept., Dec., March, June

LENICE INGRAM BACON
(Jan. 28, 1895 -- May 11, 1978)

Lenice Ingram Bacon, noted quilt lover and author of AMERICAN PATCHWORK QUILTS died Thursday, May 11 in Weston, Massachusetts. She lived a long and full life with interests as varied as Negro spirituals, civic affairs, and lecturing on quilts.

She is pictured here in the costume at the Boston Women's City Club in February, 1950. With her is one of her favorite quilts, Friendship Quilt made of pink and white appliqued prints.

Her outstanding quilt collection is notable not only for its beauty, but also for the stories connected with the quilts which she enjoyed collecting and relating to audiences throughout the United States.

Mrs. Bacon was the subject of the cover story of the QUILTERS' JOURNAL, Fall 1977.
