QUILTERS' JOURNAL PUBLISHED QUARTERLY

---

Bettina Havig's article on pg 5 & 6 in JOURNAL #23 was inadvertently published with serious omissions. In JOURNAL #24, the article is published correctly in its entirety.

ERRATA:

pg 5: The title should read "A DOMINION OF QUIET"

1st col paragraph 1, line 4 "paced world there is a gentle haven of a lost time."

pg 6: 1st col paragraph 3 beginning "The elegant quilting . . ."

Line 7... They appear complicated and difficult but are marked off with a single template of feather or cable shape by skilled and practiced quilters."

2nd col paragraph 4 beginning "Quilts have changed..."

Line 9... "Piecing, as always, is primarily done by treadle machine. Quilting is done by hand..."

2nd col paragraph 5 beginning "Amish quilts for Amish ..."

Line 5 "cause they are an important contribution".
