Volume 16 of the Research Papers of the American Quilt Study Group

Edited by Virginia Gunn

Authors and Editor

Kathryn W. Berenson is a writer, lecturer, and dealer in antique French and pre-1850 American quilts and textiles. Her interest in textiles began as a child and became her prime focus after she discovered the quilted textile treasures of France. She gave up her career as a print and broadcast journalist and as a media relations consultant to become sole proprietor of Kathryn Berenson Quilts, established in 1988.

Ricky Clark, an affiliate scholar at Oberlin College, is a former member of the AQSG Board of Directors and a founding member of the Ohio Quilt Research Project. An active quilt researcher, writer, and lecturer, she co-authored Quilts in Community: Ohio's Traditions and recently authored Quilted Gardens: Floral Quilts of the Nineteenth Century.

Xenia E. Cord is owner of Legacy Quilts, a brokerage/sales business focused on antique quilts, and an officer in JAX Quilt Productions, Inc. which sponsors the annual Quilt America! in Indianapolis. She has an M.A. degree in folklore and additional academic work in American studies. She writes and lectures on quilt history and folk cultures and describes herself as an inveterate vintage textile collector.

Judy Elsley is an associate professor of English at Weber State University in Ogden, Utah. Her Ph.D. dissertation explored quilts as speaking texts, and most of her writing about quilts has focused on quilts in literature. She co-edited Quilt Culture: Tracing the Pattern, published by the University of Missouri Press in 1994, a book of academic essays about quilt-as-metaphor.

Carol Williams Gebel has a B.A. in cultural anthropology and an M.A. in library science, both from California universities. She now lives on the East Coast and is on the staff of the North Carolina Supreme Court Library. She has combined her interests to focus on multicultural aspects of quilting.

Virginia Gunn is a professor and the director of graduate studies in the School of Home Economics and Family Ecology at the University of Akron in Ohio. She has a Ph.D. in history and teaches in the division of clothing, textiles, and interiors. She served on the AQSG Board of Directors from 1985 to 1994.

Marlene O'Bryant-Seabrook, PH.D., is a retired educator with thirty years of public school and college teaching experience. She notes that she "did not take quilting seriously until 1990," but she is now a fiber artist whose quilts have been exhibited nationally. She creates original quilts that teach or tell a story and particularly enjoys sharing them with elementary school children.

Naida Treadway Patterson was born and raised in Kentucky. Trained in both English and biology, she has a M.A.L.S. degree with majors in medical librarianship and school libraries. She worked in both areas prior to her retirement in 1989. She designs and makes jewelry using the lost-wax method. She has always loved research, and her current project has led her to try her hand at applique.

Merikay Waldvogel, a former member of the Board of Directors of the American Quilt Study Group, is a writer and curator specializing in twentieth-century quilt history. She is the author of Soft Covers for Hard Times: Quilting & the Great Depression and co-author of Patchwork Souvenirs of the 1933 World's Fair, as well as author of numerous articles.
