

THE "PATCHY ZOO"

by

Elisabeth May Blondel

1988

No. 1988. Bed time is much more welcome when an interesting "story" can be seen in the quilt on bed. And, being quilt is always funnier with the small occupants of the room. A "Patchy Zoo" quilt makes a most amusing coverlet with the lower construction—patched feet and patterned animals and letters—attached from bright scraps of material. It's just the sort of quilt any crafter could love. And the stories you can create around such amusing animals are endless. Many unfortunated mothers patch such quilts themselves using any colored scraps on hand about 12 in. square with strongly stylized faces. Designer: G. Selma Isaac.

1929

No. 1929. Giving little pillows to match a quilt is the way a loved bear, elephant and "Patchy Zoo" can bring the most delightful new ideas presented for quilting. These little figures are also patched from any scraps of material and mounted on bright colored pillow, usually about 12 inches square. Young children will enjoy such amusing sets.
